ICTM Conference Etiquette

Dear colleagues, respected participants in the 39th World Conference of the International Council for Traditional Music!

While expressing a warm welcome to all of you now in Vienna for this major ethnomusicological gathering in 2007, let us briefly familiarize you with the ICTM conference etiquette. Adoption of the following guidelines is expected to ensure maximal efficiency of our scholarly meeting.

The purpose of the conference is to create the best possible conditions for the exchange of ideas and to enable fruitful interactions among scholars from all over the world. In order to accomplish this task, paper and film presenters, discussants, session chairs, and all other participants need to work together.

With the exception of certain special sessions—among them, for example, the keynote address, some panels, film presentations, and study group meetings—most conference sessions allot thirty minutes for the set-up, presentation, and discussion of each paper. The 90-minute sessions normally have three papers; the 120-minute sessions have four.

Scholars presenting papers are expected to limit their entire presentation to 20 minutes including set up time. This allows an additional 10 minutes for questions and discussion. Discussion time is very important! The difference between reading a paper in a journal and experiencing it at a conference is that the audience is an active part of conference presentations. Good papers leave the audiences longing for more discussion time, so do not be concerned if your contribution is slightly shorter; just make sure that it does not exceed the given time slot.

Presenting papers

Each of us could perhaps talk for hours about our own research. With the limited time available for your presentation, do not try to present every detail, but rather try to make us become interested in your research. You may always supply additional information on paper sheets handed out to the audience.

Since the 20-minute conference papers are short-form presentations, more like poems than narratives, please keep in mind the following points:

1) 20 minutes is the total time for your presentation
   This includes walking to the podium, playing your examples, and speaking at a slow enough speed so that you can be understood. If you happen to face a problem with the equipment or with the examples, the time it takes to resolve them is unfortunately part of your 20 minutes too. Therefore, please check that the equipment and your examples work as you expect them to before your presentation.

2) All the sessions should keep on the same timetable
   By keeping to the same time schedule in every session, starting on time and moving to the next paper every 30 minutes, audience members who want to hear papers in different sessions can move from room to room in time to hear the presentations they are especially interested in. Sessions in which the late cancellation of a participant or two has left some additional time are still expected to follow the same 30-minute rule. The remaining time can be devoted to further discussion for those who want to stay and examine the issues in greater detail.

3) Please plan to speak slowly
   Less than half the conference participants are native English speakers and everyone has an accent of some kind to which the audience has to adjust. A reasonably slow delivery of your paper may reduce the number of ideas you wish to present, but at the same time will ensure that the audience understands them.

4) Please select your audio or visual examples carefully
   In most cases it is best to keep them short, to give you more time to talk about them. There will be someone on behalf of the organizers to help you with the equipment, but sometimes problems may occur regardless of our best intentions. Therefore, if you plan to use PowerPoint, please consider having a back-up set of overhead transparencies, just in case there is a technical difficulty. If you plan to play DVD examples, please have the recommended VHS backup or further transparencies nearby, just in case of a compatibility problem. Nevertheless, it may be useful to plan what you might do if your audio or visual examples fail. How you would present your ideas without them?

5) Session chairs will help you keep track of the time
Since it is often difficult for a person delivering a paper to know how long he or she has been speaking, the session chairs will help you by monitoring time. Their job is also to ensure that all presenters have the same amount of time for their papers, and that the audience has time for discussing each paper.

- The session chair will give you or show you a piece of paper after 15 minutes that will say “15 minutes are over; 5 minutes remain.” If you are not 75% of the way through your presentation at that time, consider eliminating some examples, or some descriptive parts of your paper, so that you can get to the conclusions in the next five minutes.
- The session chair will give you or show you another piece of paper when you have 1 minute remaining that will say “19 minutes have passed; you have 1 minute left.” If you are not already presenting your concluding page or paragraphs, you should jump ahead and present them. When practicing your paper, put a mark in 45 seconds from the end. Then you can easily jump to that point should it be necessary to do so.
- If you go on for 25 minutes, the chair person will have no choice than to stop you, thank you for your presentation and give no opportunity for discussion. I am convinced you will understand this.

Discussing papers
In some countries it is standard practice for people asking questions to deliver a kind of presentation of their own before asking the actual question. This practice limits the number of people who can speak. Thus, you are kindly requested to pose a fairly short question directly related to the paper. Session chairs may allow follow-up questions, but if you want to carry on a conversation with the speaker, it is better to do so outside the session and allow some of the others to ask their questions as well. It is the session chair who moderates the discussion and determines its end in order to keep the session on schedule.

Coffee and tea breaks and meals
Coffee and tea breaks are very important, not just because of the refreshments but primarily because they offer a less formal place to discuss ideas that arise during the paper sessions. In order to facilitate these informal discussions, session chairs are asked to keep the sessions from continuing into the coffee breaks and also to ensure that sessions end promptly in time for meals. If you could not ask your question within the given session, or want to follow up on it, coffee breaks and meals are ideal times to do so.

Let’s have a highly stimulating conference!

Sincerely,
Wim van Zanten
Program chair

Musicians and music ensembles performing during the World Conference

Ensemble Klesmer Wien
(Welcome Reception, 4 July 2007)

“...Jewish folk music is so multi-faceted. It can seem happy and in truth be deeply tragic. Almost always is it laughter through tears.” –Dimitry Shostakovich

For more than fifteen years, the members of the Ensemble Klesmer Wien have been together to continue to keep alive the traditional wedding and festival music of the Yiddish speaking Jews of the East European Shtetls. Alongside these instrumental works, the Ensemble Klesmer Wien performs in its concerts Yiddish folksongs, songs of the Chassidim as well as Theater music, and their concerts are rounded off with Chassidic tales and Jewish humor. The musicians nurture East European folk music in the best manner.

As well as performing locally in Vienna, the Ensemble Klesmer Wien has performed both nationally and internationally. They have toured all over Israel, performed in the Czech Republic, Poland, Italy, Germany and Holland. As professionals in the field of this traditional music they are also in high demand for workshops in Jewish music.

The musicians:
Leon Pollak, violin, vocals and narration
Alexander Shevchenko, accordion and vocals
Maciek Golebiowski, clarinet and vocals
Michael Gmasz, viola and vocals
Michael Preuschl, bass and vocals
Peter Rosmanith, percussion

Wiener Tschuschenkapelle
(Reception at the City Hall, 5 July 2007)

The Wiener Tschuschenkapelle is a renowned band with extensive experience in playing live on stage, on the radio and on television, at street parties and “mega events”, both in Austria and abroad.

The program features traditional folk and songs of the Balkan region, Mediterranean serenades, Turkish-oriental tunes, Greek Rembetiko, Bosnian Sevdalinka, travelling as far as Russia, taking abroad one or the other Old Viennese song along the way (after all, the name is Wiener Tschuschenkapelle), experimenting with Gypsy jazz, and even venturing into the classical realm. (They have even had the honour of playing with the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra at the Vienna State Opera.)

Meanwhile there are nine Tschuschenkapelle CDs to choose from. Their latest album, Bosanske sevdalinke (Bosnian Sevdah Love Songs), was released in January 2007 and features the Wiener Tschuschenkapelle in cooperation with Jovica Petković, the great accordionist from Sarajevo.

The originality of the arrangements, the virtuosity of the musicians and the charming and entertaining presentation all contribute alike to a delightful evening.

The musicians:
Slavko Ninić presentation, guitar, vocals
Mitke Sarlandziov accordion
Hidan Mamudov clarinet, saxophone, vocals
Maria Petrova percussion
Jovan Torbica double bass

The soul diva experienced her first contact with Viennese songs in 1993, during the production of “Wiener Lust”. Confronted with the art of “Dudeln” (Viennese yodelling) in 2001, she decided to join 1. Wiener Pawlatschen AG.

Berg&Tal-Schrammeln

(Visit at the “Heuriger”, 6 July 2007, Heuriger Wagner)

The Schrammel quartet is a typically Viennese formation consisting of two strings, accordion and contra guitar. The Berg&Tal-Schrammeln have for many years been an integral part of the traditional Viennese music scene. Their repertory includes not just the classical Vienna dancing music but also Viennese songs, both as active singers and as ideally matched accompanists.

Kurt Girk
Known to insiders as the “Frank Sinatra of Ottakring”, not least for its intense singing and his elegant dress sense. He has a fondness for gigs in his home district of Ottakring. He is the walking memory of Viennese songs and his repertory also includes the pop songs of his youth.

Willi Lehner
Born into a family of traditional Vienna folk singers, he has imbibed the Viennese music from his infancy, same as Trude Mally and Kurt Girk. A highly popular duet partner, he pursues Viennese music as his particular hobbyhorse.

Aşkın-Coşkun Kardeşler: Davul & Zurna
(Farewell music event, 11 July 2007)

The two Kurd-Alevit brothers were born in Gümüşhane, in Turkey. They started to play davul-zurna from their childhood. Since 1986 they live in Vienna, and play in many ceremonies and events of the Anatolian – Arabian – Aserbaijanian communities.

The davul is a large drum, double-headed and cylindrical, which is widely used in the Middle East, Southeast Europe and some parts of Asia. In Anatolia (and also in other regions) the davul is almost always played together with a double reed wooden instrument: the zurna.

The davul-zurna ensembles are the most important musical part of the Anatolian customs and celebrations like weddings, Henna-nights, Muslim circumcisions and other ceremonies. In Vienna there are several davul-zurna duos from Turkey.

Ruzsa Nikolić-Lakatos and the Gypsy Family
(Farewell music event, 11 July 2007)

The singer of the band, Ruzsa Nikolić-Lakatos was born in 1945 in Hungary. Since 1956 she resides in Vienna, Austria. Ruzsa who belongs to a traditional Lovari family started to sing in her early childhood. Her father, a famous storyteller, taught her the old Lovari songs of their ancestors, the so-called loki gili. These songs, usually performed at celebrations, play an important role in the culture of Lovari community. These songs tell true stories about Roma life, their happiness and their sadness.

Ruzsa tries, together with her husband Mischo Nikolić and her son Mischa to cherish the traditional songs of their ancestors for younger generations. They are also aware of modern trends in music and integrate these into their repertory.

The group has performed in many European countries like Austria, Germany, Poland, Sweden, Italy, Denmark, France etc. and in Japan.
How to use the program

Papers, panels and other events are listed in order of occurrence below. Each session is given a two-digit number and letter code, like 1.2 A or 5.3 B. The first digit gives the day on which that event is to be held and the second digit shows which block of sessions. The letter indicates the room in which the event will occur. Thus, a paper marked 3.1 C is on day 3 of the meeting (Saturday, 7 July) in the first batch of sessions (timed for 9:00-10:30 in the morning) and can be found in room C (see the map on the rear of this booklet). There are generally four sets of presentations each day: set 1 is the first morning session; set 2 is the second morning session; set 3 is the first afternoon session; and set 4 is the second afternoon session. We tried to schedule film shows and business meetings within these sets; an evening session (set 5) was added where this was not possible.

LOOKING AT STRINGS
Joseph Joachim and the Violin’s Role in European Folk Music

An exhibition of the Museum of Ethnography Kittsee Castle in cooperation with the Institute for Research of Folk Music and Ethnomusicology, University of Music and Interpretative Arts, Vienna.

May 6th – November 4th, 2007

On the occasion of the 100th anniversary of Joseph Joachim’s death – the famous violin artist, composer and conductor was born in Kittsee June 28., 1831 and died in Berlin August 15., 1907 – this year’s exhibition “LOOKING AT STRINGS - Joseph Joachim and the Violin’s Role in European Folk Music” is about the violin as a musical instrument and a cultural phenomenon.

Searching for the trite and the special, the ethnographic and the symbolic, the crafty and the artistic, the exhibition also deals with the great number of fairy tales, myths and legends curling around the violin – not neglecting the associations with the female body, caused by the violin’s special form.

Crafty musicians change, alienate and decorate the instrument’s shape, others search for the violin’s perfect sound. The instrument itself was and is held in high esteem, but the musicians playing the violin were often disliked and went without thanks. Pictures and old decrees tell us about the hard life of „lard violonists“, „beer fiddlers“ and vagrant musicians. Today the violin and other related string instruments enjoy a popular revival everywhere in Europe.
